My dear Miss Chapman &c.

I suppose Father has promised some in his letter to Mr Garrison, a note of mine to you, that I may tell you what disposition I have made of the "Liberty Bells" you entrusted to us, & may ask for further directions respecting those which are not yet in the way to their destination. One of the Bank copies my Father conveyed to Mr Geo. Thompson, another was sent thro' Miss Carpenter to Lady Byron, & a third to our friend Miss Sanford, whose christian name is Lucy (not Sarah), & who sent the copies of "Griselda" to the last Bazaar. Miss L. has doubtless explained this to you, & also the sale of the large picture from Lady Byron, so I need not enlarge on the theme. A fourth Liberty Bell I sent to Miss Blake of Taunton (who was a liberal donor of £5- to our funds;) & the other to Mrs Rowland Hirst whose instrumentality we received contributions from South Wales, which were some of the most elegant, & very numerous.

That locality is rather shut out from active participation in what is interesting our world, & I thought the book would keep alive their zeal which really has been considerable.
Of course I have sent the Bazaar Report with each, & directed one to every contributor in the Town to which the book was forwarded; & I have also enclosed several copies of it with the Liberty Bells for Carlisle Rochdale &c. I dont think it could (the Reports) have been got up in a more attractive form; all who have received it are much delighted with the account.
I have directed a copy to every Contributor but have not yet had time to distribute them all; for my powers are very limited both in health & available time; though I am delighted to do all I can, & shall accomplish it satisfactorily by degrees I hope. How convince I must confess my ignorance of Geography in being totally unacquain-ted with any such place as Win--cobank, nor can I discover it by reference to Gazeteers &c to friends whom I deem good authorities. I have made enquiries in other places, particularly in the South of England but without success; no one has heard of Mrs Rawson, or of Wincobank so her book is still on hand, & also Dr Madden's whose address I have been unable to find out.

My letter & note to you seem destined to be filled up with business matters & either time or space forbids my exceeding; but other correspondents will expect to hear more amply & more worthily than I can attempt the general sensation of indignation caused by the treatment F. Douglass met with on board the Cambria, or rather before sailing in her. Letters now ing upon us from his friends overflow with the emotions thus roused, & if they leave us less to say, we are not behind hand in sympathizing with them & desiring to seize the opening for collecting a substantial testimonial of British sense of this injustice he has met with, & of the appreciation of his talent & devotedness. My Father has alluded to the good likely to result to the cause by this affair being brought forward in the public prints & we are extensively read here by members who have never heard any Anti-Slavery details or given the subject a moment's thought, & you know far better than we do the effect these same newspaper articles will have on American readers. As I must not be allowed even an envelop
